RETAILERS BEGIN WAR

Declare Fight on the Great Catalogue Houses.

HOME TRADE LEAGUE FORMS

Retail Merchants Say Catalog Houses Are Making Commercial Graveyards of Once Prosperous Towns—Striking Economical Movement.

Chicago, July 19.—War has been declared on the great catalog houses of Chicago and other cities by the 5,000 retail merchants of the West.

In one of the most striking economic movements this country has ever known the small dealers are fighting, as they say, for their lives.

The mammoth institutions which employ thousands of workers, solicit their business entirely through the medium of their bulky catalogs, spending no money in the community from which they derive annually millions of dollars of patronage, are forcing increasing numbers of home merchants to the wall and so their opponents claim, are "making commercial graveyards of once prosperous towns."

An organized attack on the catalog institutions is to be made by the home trade league of America, which has existed for several months in Chicago largely as a publicity bureau.

The backbone of the league is formed of commercial associations, national, state and local in character, in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan, Kansas and Minnesota.

Alfred C. Clark is manager of the league.

UNIQUE SURGICAL OPERATION.

Try to Make Dogs Grow Together After Siamese Twin Fashion.

New York, July 19.—Drs. G. G. Lawson and Frederick A. Johnson, of the King's county hospital, and Drs. Arthur A. Brown and Lester D. Lang, of the Bradford street hospital, have been reprimanded and suspended by Robert W. Hebberd commissioner of public charities of Greater New York, because they tried by a surgical operation to make two dogs grow together in Siamese twin fashion.

Commissioner Hebbard said that while the experiment made by the physicians was not out of mere curiosity, but was due to scientific interest, it is important that the public hospital system should maintain an unimpaired reputation for humanity of the highest order and the physicians, therefore, were guilty of serious indiscretion.

MUST FACE COURTMARTIAL.

Private Deserted Army to Follow His Sweetheart to Pacific Coast.

Bakersville, Cal., July 19—Because his sweetheart left her home in Delaware to come to Los Angeles, Geo Crichton, a private enlisted in the fourth company of artillery at Fort Dupont, Del., deserted the army and followed her to the coast.

Disappointed at not being able to find her here and footsore, weary and half sick, he surrendered himself to the local recruiting officers and is now lodged in the county jail and must face a courtmartial with the prospect of a long term in the military prison on Alcatraze island ahead of him.

Disastrous Auto Collision.

New York, July 19.—In a head-on collision between two automobiles on Thursday on Ocean avenue, at King's Highway, Francis B. Cavanaugh, of Boise, Idaho, was so badly injured that his recovery is believed impossible. Chapman Ropes, of Morristown, N. J., was seriously injured. The machines were reduced to splinters and scattered over a radius of fifty feet.

Bankhead's Election Ratified.

Montgomery, Ala., July 19.—The two houses of the legislature met in joint session and ratified the election of John H. Bankhead to the United States senate. He succeeds Senator Morgan, deceased, for a term of six years, which began March 4 last.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE.

Status of Prohibition Bill—Great Interest in Measure.

Atlanta, [illegible]—Following a favorable report of the committee on [illegible] the prohibition bill was made the special order for Tuesday next. Great interest is centered in the final disposition of the measure when it will come up for passage. By operation of the house rules it cannot be read for a second time until Friday morning and this will probably bring it up for a third reading and beginning of the discussion which is to follow on Wednesday, unless taken up before by unanimous consent. It is hardly expected that a vote will be had on it until week after next unless all debate on the measure is cut off like it was in the senate.

The only bill of general interest passed in the house was that of Mr. Candler, of DeKalb, which provides for the registration of the public accountants of the state and the creation of a state board of examiners to pass upon the applications and conduct examinations before issuing such permits.

Railroad Interests.

Earnest and able pleas for conservatism on the part of the Georgia legislature in considering and disposing of the many bills affecting railroad interests in the state were the features of the session of the joint railroad and judiciary committees of both branches of the legislature held in the house of representatives Wednesday afternoon. While no official action was taken was taken by the joint committee, the various questions relating to railroad regulation in Georgia were discussed pro and con by the railroad men, and members of the committees composing the joint body and the legislators present expressed their desire not to injure the railroads but to protect the corporations and at the same time promote the public welfare.

A bill which will carry, when enacted into a law, all persons desiring to enter in marriage to be furnished with a certificate as to their physical and mental qualifications to undertake the duties of this high and holy office, will, in all probability, be introduced in the house within a few days.

The disfranchisement bill of Senator Felder was made a special order for Tuesday. The message of Governor Smith, urging a change in the method of taxing railroads, was read.

The senate committee on pensions recommended that the bill to pay pensions to confederate soldiers quarterly do pass.

The legislature was not in session Thursday, the body adjourning to attend the cornerstone laying for the new agricultural college at Clarksville.

NO ANTI-JAPANESE FEELING.

Governor Carter Sums Up Conditions in Hawaii.

Seattle, Wash., July 19.—Governor George R. Carter, of Hawaii, has summed up race conditions in the islands by saying.

"There is no anti-Japanese feeling in Hawaii. Twenty-five per cent of the children in the territorial schools are Japanese studying side by side with the whites and there has never been even an intimation of a demonstration. I regard the Japanese as desirable."

Governor Carter stated that he will retire from office on August 15. Oscar Straus, secretary of the department of commerce and labor, who has been in Seattle for several days, will go to Hawaii on the same steamer as the governor.

Alabama Cotton Crop.

Montgomery, Ala., July 19—In reports made to President Seymour, of the Alabama section of the cotton association it is indicated that the cotton crop in Alabama with average conditions from now on will make 65 to 70 per cent of a crop. With ideal conditions, 80 per cent may be made, but they will have to be practically every way propitious. Southeast Alabama, in the uplands, and sandy lands, the best outlook prevails, but the lowlands and properties have suffered. Especially has west Alabama been hurt.

RAINS CAUSE FLOOD

Rivers In Ohio and West Virginia Raging Torrents.

MANY LIVES REPORTED LOST

Railroads, Trolley Systems and Lighting Plants Demoralized—People Are Compelled to Abandon Their Homes and Seek Higher Places.

Parkersburg, W. Va., July 19.—The loss of several lives and property damage estimated at [illegible] is the result of the flood which has been raging in the eastern part of West Virginia and [illegible] for the past [illegible] hours. Reports from [illegible] are meager, owing to the fact that [illegible] are down and [illegible] off. Many people have been driven from their homes and are [illegible] on higher ground.

All streams in this city have risen [illegible] feet in ten hours.

Parts of West Virginia have sustained heavy losses. Miles of the tracks of the Western Maryland and the coal and iron railroads in Tucker and Barbour counties have been washed away. The service of these roads is said to be at a standstill.

In the Tygarts valley, the towns of Grafton, Rowlesburg and Tunnelton were almost submerged the property damage amounting to nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

At Millcombs, W. Va., the home of Mrs. Mary Ballard was wrecked by the high water and three young children of Mrs. Ballard were drowned.

Many remarkable features have characterized the flood. While hundreds of persons watched the raging Tygart river, a large church floated down past Rowlesburg.

Fifteen bridges were counted passing Grafton floating in the river.

NO REVISION OF THE TARIFF

After Talk With Roosevelt, Senator Hopkins Says "Stand Pat."

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 19—President Roosevelt, Senator Hopkins, of Illinois, and H. E. Miles, representing the Wisconsin tariff revision, discussed the subject of tariff revision at luncheon at Sagamore Hill on Wednesday. Senator Hopkins on leaving Oyster Bay, said that the conclusion was reached that no tariff revision should be undertaken until after the next presidential election.

"It would be suicidal to the republican party," the senator added, "to undertake a revision of the tariff during the next congress. After the presidential election it will be the duty of the republican party to revise the tariff, and it will be done."

Mr. Hopkins remarked that he believed such argument would appeal to and would be accepted by the republican revisionists in all parts of the country.

Mr. Hopkins had a very enthusiastic word to say regarding the presidential boom of Mr. Cannon. He said:

"Of course, if President Roosevelt was a candidate, there would not be the slightest opposition in the convention to his nomination. But I am thoroughly convinced that Mr. Roosevelt will not consider the nomination, that he is entirely sincere in declaring himself not to be a candidate under any circumstances.

"Speaker Cannon will have the entire Illinois delegation solidly behind him, and I believe that if nominated he would make the best race of any man the republican party could put forward."

Exodus of Witnesses.

Boise, Idaho, July 19.—An exodus of witnesses in attendance at the Haywood trial commenced in earnest on Thursday, and by night most of them had left town. Since the case commenced it is estimated that at least five hundred have been in town at different times.

JOHNSON LYNCHING CASE.

Defense Has Over Fifty Witnesses to Examine.

Charlotte, N. C., July 19.—The defense in the case of twenty citizens of Anson county, charged with the lynching of J. V. Johnson, at Wadesboro, the night of May 30, 1906, now in hearing in Union county superior court, Wednesday began the introduction of testimony, concentrating its efforts in an attempt to impeach the evidence given by witnesses for the state.

T. R. Tomlinson, the officer who arrested H. D. Kendall, a member of the mob who turned state's evidence, testified that Kendall told him that he Kendall was at home on the night of the lynching; that late that night he heard the noise made by the crowd passing the house and went out to his gate to investigate but could not recognize any member of the mob.

The defense has over 50 witnesses and several days may be required for the examination of these.

SHIP BURNS OFF TYBEE.

Steamer Allegheny Falls Prey to Fire. Passengers Saved.

Savannah, Ga., July 19.—The steamship Allegheny, Captain Freeman, Merchants and Miners' Transportation company, bound for Philadelphia, from Savannah, was destroyed by fire two miles off Tybee island. All of her thirty-two passenger and her crew were saved, but the ship, her cargo and all baggage on board is a total loss.

Fire was discovered amidships within two hours after the steamer left her dock, the engineers, boiler men and firemen being driven from their posts by a blast of flame. In this crippled condition the Allegheny began to drift, her course lying toward the beach.

The first cry of fire sent several excitable passengers to the rails, and the members of the crew prevented a number from jumping overboard in a mad desire to leave the burning vessel.

After the first few minutes order was restored and in the ship's boats and in boats sent out from Fort Screven, manned by soldiers, every person was brought ashore.

LAMANA KIDNAPING CASE.

Defense Has Started Upon Its Rebuttal Evidence.

Hahnville, La., July 19.—That Mrs. Campisciano, one of the women accused of the Lamana boy's murder, will probably not receive an etreme sentence became evident when the prosecution closed its case after less than two days of evidence taking, without having directly connected the woman with the crime.

Of the other three prisoners the woman's husband and Gendusa, go-between for the ransom money, have had strong circumstantial evidence given against them. Of the remaining prisoner Tony Costa it has only been testified that he kidnaped the child in New Orleans and gave his wagon to the gang which carried the little fellow away and later strangled him.

The defense started its rebuttal on Wednesday, and it appears likely that the case will soon go to the jury.

Livestock Men Meet.

Kansas City, July 19.—Live stock commission firms in the fifteen principal markets that do an annual business estimated at $80,000,000, represented here Thursday at the opening of the nineteenth annual meeting of the National Live Stock Exchange association. The live stock centers represented included nearly every city of importance, Buffalo to Denver and [illegible] Paul to Fort Worth. Twenty delegates came from Chicago.

Refused Man Pardon.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 19.—The state board of pardons has refused to recommend a pardon for James B. Gantly, the actor who was convicted of the murder of Madge Yorke an actress, in Philadelphia, in 1896. Last spring efforts to free him from a life sentence after nearly 11 years in prison were begun and his case has been under advisement since May

WRECK ON SOUTHERN

Many Persons Injured In Accident at Richland, S. C.

THREE CARS TURNED OVER

It Is Said the Engine Left the Track, Turned Completely Over, Dragging Two of the Cars of the Train With It In Its Tumble.

Greenville, S. C., July 19.—Passenger train No. 36, Southern railway, leaving Atlanta at 12:15 o'clock Thursday morning, was wrecked at 5:30 o'clock at Richland, near Seneca.

Three cars were ditched and turned over.

The engine, the postal car and express car were derailed and badly damaged.

The fireman and several passengers are reported slightly injured. Mail Clerk Smith is reported to have been painfully injured.

List of Injured.

The train was in charge of Conductor Moody and Engineer Busha.

Following is a list of the injured:

John Moles of Atlanta, fireman, right leg broken and bruised.

J. W. Lyons, negro, of August, bruised.

Alice Johnson, negro, of Alabama, knee sprained.

George Patterson, Alabama, slightly bruised.

W. H. Smith, of Atlanta, shoulder bruised.

No one was seriously hurt excepting Mail Clerk Smith.

The passengers were transferred and continued on to Washington.

Physicians were sent to the scene and the railroad is caring for the injured.

Mail Clerk Lived in Atlanta.

James B. Smith, the railway mail clerk who was seriously injured in the derailment of Southern passenger train No. 36 northbound, at Richland, S. C., at 5:30 Thursdtay morning, is a resident of Atlanta. He is 48 years of age, and has been in the railway mail service for 15 years.

According to advices received by the Southern railway officials in Atlanta, the engine left the track at Richland, turning completely over, and dragged the mail and express cars over and from the track.

Mr. Smith was seriously injured, sustaining greater injuries than any other person in the wreck, and the fireman and several passengers were also injured, but not seriously.

CLAIMED DAIRY CAUSED TYPHOID

Testimony Startling at the Trial of Birmingham Dairyman.

Birmingham, Ala., July 19.—In the trial of N. C. Darby, a dairyman, who is charged with selling milk detrimental to the public health, some interesting facts are being brought out.

One physician testified that twenty-four out of 30 typhoid patients in the infected district on South Highlands were caused from the Glen Iris dairy, belonging to Mr. Darby.

City Bacteriologist Duncan testified that while the city code allows a maximum of but 500,000 bacteria to the cubic centimeter (about fifteen drops), his three tests of milk from the dairy revealed respectively to the cubic centimeter 6,800,000, 23,120,000 and 29,320,000 bacteria.

City authorities believe the fever is now well under control, although efforts to trace the source have not yet been entirely successful.

Tide of Immigration Changing.

Seattle, Wash., July 19—Secretary Strauss declares that the tide of immigration is changing, particularly from the Oriental countries, and is turning toward Canada. In the last three months," says the Secretary, "the number of immigrants coming into the United States through all points has increased ten per cent while immigration from Japan has decreased. Canada is a wonderful country, and it is going to be one of the big problems our part of the Pacific will have to face in the future."

THAT ALLEGED "CONSPIRACY"

L'Engle Will Have To Prove His Charges In Court

AGAINST STOVALL AND KNIGHT

Examination of Western Union Office at Tampa Fails to Disclose Telegrams Claimed to Have Been Exchanged Between Stovall and Knight

(Tampa Evening News.)

As rapidly as the regulations of the company will permit, the files and records of the Western Union Telegraph Company, the highest and best evidence, are disclosing, with absolute certainty, the fact that The Tallahassee Sun's recent "conspiracy exposure" is the most pitiable "fake" ever attempted.

This morning, having received authority therefor from Supt. Dillon, at Jacksonville, the files of the local Western Union office were examined and every telegram sent to W. F. Stovall during the month of April and May were produced by Manager Davidson and examined.

Of the eleven "telegrams" published by The Tallahassee Sun as having been sent by Peter O. Knight to W. F. Stovall during those months (the months included in The Sun's "disclosures") ONLY ONE WAS EVER RECEIVED AT THE TAMPA WESTERN UNION OFFICE.

This solitary telegram reads as follows:

"Tallahassee, May 6, 1907. W. F. Stovall, care Tribune, Tampa, Fla. Wire me if you or anyone in Tampa has received the issue of The Sun of Sunday. If so, I intend to prosecute L'Engle in Tampa for libel. Show Thompson and Whitaker. P. O. Knight."

Not one of the other messages from Knight to Stovall, published in The Sun, was ever received at the local office and, therefore, never sent from Tallahassee. Each and every one of those ten others is a fabrication, pure and simple, concocted by a half-crazy sensationalist or his agents, to bolster up a "fake" sensation.

The one genuine telegram published above did not relate to the Manatee county cases against L'Engle in any way. It referred to a publication in The Sun which offended Col. Knight and led him to the determination to prosecute L'Engle. In order to bring this prosecution in Tampa, it was necessary to establish that the publication was circulated in this city; hence Col. Knight's inquiry of Editor Stovall.

More Coming.

Two additional investigations now in progress will complete the refutation of the L'Engle conspiracy story. Messages sent by Editor Stovall to Col. Knight at Tallahassee were "deadhead" messages; and, under the Western Union rules, all copies of "deadhead" messages are, once each month, sent to headquarters at New York for filing and preservation. In order to show just what messages were sent by Editor Stovall to Col. Knight, it will be necessary to have these copies returned from New York and Supt. Dillon, at Jacksonville, has written for them. When they arrive and are examined, they will show that the "telegrams" published by The Sun as sent by Stovall to Knight are equally "fakes."

Supt. Dillon is also making an investigation of the files of the Tallahassee office, the result of which will be known in a few days. These records, properly substantiated, will be in court when L'Engle is brought before a jury to answer for his shameless falsehoods.

One Instance.

One example of the sort of doctoring done by L'Engle to make up his "sensation" came to light yesterday. Col. Knight found the original of a telegram from John A. Graham to himself, at Tallahasse, dated May 18. In L'Engle's published version, this telegram reads:

"Can you meet me in Tampa Sunday to consult and take action in L'Engle matter?"

The original and genuine telegram reads:

"Can you meet me in Tampa Sunday to consult and take action in LEGAL matter?"

The word "L'Engle" fitted in so nicely with the "conspiracy" story that The Sun man didn't hesitate to substitute it for the word really appearing the telegram. But this little substitution was a small matter compared to the deliberate manufacture of entire telegrams which did not exist.

BALLOT BOXES SENT OUT.

Superintendent Kelley Sent Out Many Boxes for Special Districts.

County Superintendent Dr. J. L. Kelley and his deputy, Forrest Kelley, were busy all day Friday preparing the ballot boxes for thirty special districts, at which an election for trustees will be held on the 23rd inst.

The sub-school district is taking on quite an important part in school work now, and a great many of the patrons—in fact ninety per cent of them—are greatly in favor of the sub-school district, as it gives them better advantages for their children.

About the New Postal Card.

Postmaster Crom says that general interest will be taken in the new order of Postmaster-General Meyer, effective August 1, providing that the face side of a post card may be divided by a vertical line placed approximately one-third of the distance from the left end of the postal; the space at the left end to be used for the message, the portion to the right to be used for the address only. In addition to this concession the order states that a very thin sheet of paper may be attached if it completely adheres to the card, and such a paster may bear both writing and printing. Advertisements, illustrations or writing may appear upon the back of the card and on the left third of the front. Postal cards bearing particles of glass, metal mica, sand, tinsel or other substances are declared to be unmailable, except when enclosed in envelopes with proper postage affixed or when treated in such a manner as will prevent the objectionable materials from being rubbed off or injuring the hands of the persons handling the mails.—Ocala Banner.

ENGINEER DECLARES ENGINE IS HAUNTED

Old "540" Pops Off And Cuts Capers When She Is Dead Cold.

ENGINEER FULLER'S EXPERIENCE

Cannot Sleep for the Continual Pranks of His Dead Engine, and Fireman Threatens to Quit His Job—Moved Nearly Fifty Yards Cold.

"I'll tell you, boys, I firmly believe that old engine is haunted," remarked Engineer Syd Fuller, one of the most popular engineers on the Atlantic Coast Line, in referring to his engine, No. 540, to a number of his friends Friday. "I have been in charge of old 540 on the Citra run for a long time, and I love her like a master loves his faithful dog; but I'll give you my word, boys, when that old engine is as cold as a cake of ice down in those woods at Citra in the dead of night, you can hear her pop off,' and cut all kinds of capers, the same as if the steam is on full. I can't understand it, and it makes the cold chills run down my back when I hear it. My fireman is worse than superstitious, and it has got to a point where he absolutely refuses to sleep at the station, but prefers to walk a mile and a half to get a few hours' rest, rather than witness those hair-raising capers of old 540.

"You may not believe it," continued Engineer Fuller, "but these nightly capers are growing more exciting. A few nights ago I stopped my engine at the regular pit where we are accustomed to put her up. She went dead cold, and about the middle of the night I could hear her cutting up. I had gotten so used to it that my nerves had quieted to a proportionate degree. I felt sure that no harm would come to me, so I rolled over and went to sleep. You may believe me or not, but I was awoke by the fireman and treated to the most morning when he came to kindle his fires and was nearly fifty yards where we had left her the night before.

CAT HYPNOTIZED SNAKE.

Interesting Sight to Lookers-On in a Grocery Store Here.

What proved to be one of the most interesting spectacles ever seen was witnessed here a few nights ago, when a pet cat in a grocery store completely charmed and killed a five-foot rat snake.

Some persons in the store noticed the cat's peculiar actions as it though it had something at bay. Investigation developed the fact that a huge snake was concealed behind a sugar barrel, completely at the mercy of the cat, which was steadily creeping upon the reptile.

Suddenly the feline sprang upon his victim, catching it in the nape of the neck. The reptile wriggled vigorously for a time, but his catship held on with determination, finally coming out the victor.

The snake measured five feet from head to tip.

A QUAKER ROMANCE.

The Wooing of Katherine Hollingsworth by George Robinson.

Valentine Hollingsworth accompanied William Penn on the good ship Welcome upon the [illegible] Katherine, his daughter, [illegible] Quaker maiden. [illegible] of the little settlement was [illegible] and won by big George [illegible]. But George was of the [illegible] and Katherine "[illegible]"

"[illegible] author of "Hearts [illegible] was willing to join [illegible] a Friend and be [illegible] or anywhere else that Katherine said. Accordingly he [illegible] that [illegible] the declaration [illegible] loss."

"[illegible] and scruples," seeing that [illegible] was very [illegible] him this searching [illegible]

"Friend [illegible] to join the Society of Friends [illegible] or for the love of Katherine Hollingsworth?"

George hesitated. He prized the truth and he did wish to marry Katherine. So he answered:

"I wish to join the society for the love of Katherine Hollingsworth."

The Friends counseled "delay and that Friend Robinson should be [illegible] persuasively and instructively dealt with." Shrewd men as they were, they allowed Katherine to deal with him, and within a year George joined the society as a true convert.

An old manuscript reads, "He and Katherine were permitted to begin a long and happy married life together, being for many years an example of piety and goodness to those around them and retaining their love of truth and loyalty to the society to the last."

HE HIRED WEBSTER.

A Sharp Nantucket Man's Bargain With the Great Lawyer.

Of course Webster was in demand by those who could afford to pay for his services. A sharp Nantucket man is said to have got the better of the great defender of the constitution in an amusing way, however. He had a small case which was to be tried at Nantucket one week in June, and he posted to Webster's office in great haste. It was a contest with a neighbor over a matter of considerable local interest, and his pride as a litigant was at stake. He told Webster the particulars and asked what he would charge to conduct the case.

"Why," said Webster, "you can't afford to hire me. I should have to stay down there the whole week, and my fee would be more than the whole case is worth. I couldn't go down there for less than $1,000. I could try every case on the docket as well as one, and it wouldn't cost any more, for one case would take my time for the entire week anyway."

"All right, Mr. Webster," quickly responded the Nantucketer. "Here's your $1,000. You come down, and I'll fix it so you can try every case."

Webster was so amused over this proposition that he kept his word. He spent the entire week in Nantucket and appeared on one side or the other in every case that came up for hearing. The shrewd Nantucketer hired Daniel out to all his friends who were in litigation and received in return about $1,500, so that he got Webster's services for nothing and made a good profit to boot.

The Hygiene of Underwear.

The average person wearing two sets of underclothing a week, says the Youth's Companion, will make the change in the middle of the week, but it would be far better if the two sets were kept going the entire week on alternate days. With the biweekly change, the clothes worn during the day are aired only for seven or eight hours in the twenty-four and never have the purifying process of a sunning. With two sets going on alternate days, one set can be aired two nights and one day, and, if possible, should be hung up where they can receive the direct rays of the sun for some hours. They should not be kept in a dark closet.

A Wonderful Cataract.

The falls of Iguazu, situate near where Argentina, Paraguay and Brazil meet, form one of the most wonderful cataracts in the world, being greater in extent and more varied in character than the better known falls of Niagara. The first plunge of the Iguazu falls is 210 feet, followed by two others of 100 feet each, while between the two series of falls there are cataracts and rapids covering a vast expanse and surrounding picturesque islands.

The Left Wing.

"Is there any portion of the fowl you prefer, major?" asked the hostess blandly.

"The left wing, if you please."

"The left wing?"

"Yes," retorted the major, gazing disdainfully at the platter. "I believe it is always good military tactics to bring the left wing of a veteran corps into action."—London Tit-Bits.

IRRESISTIBLE SLEEP.

An Experience in the Fierce Cold of Tierra del Fuego.

"Whoever sits down," said Dr. Solander to his company among the hills of Tierra del Fuego, "will sleep, and whoever sleeps will wake no more." The brave doctor and his men had tramped a considerable distance through the swamps, when the weather became suddenly colder and fierce blasts of wind drove the snow before it. In a short time the cold became so intense as to cause the most oppressive drowsiness. Dr. Solander was the first to feel the inclination to sleep, and he insisted upon lying down. In vain his companions entreated and remonstrated. He lay down, and when told that he would inevitably freeze to death answered that he desired nothing more than to lie down and die. One of the black servants lay down also. Solander declared himself willing to go on, but begged to be allowed to sleep first, and in a few moments the two men were in a profound sleep. Soon after, those who had been sent forward to kindle a fire returned with the welcome news that the fire awaited them at a short distance. The men happily succeeded in awakening Solander, who, although he had not been asleep five minutes, had almost lost the use of his limbs, and the flesh was so shrunken that his shoes fell from his feet. It was with much urging and assistance that he consented to go on, but all attempts to arouse the black man were futile, and he was left to die.

HE WANTED REST.

What Verdi Did With the Key of a Locked Piano.

Not all the great composers have courted the constant adulation of the world. Verdi used to lament that he was unable to find a refuge, even for a brief space, from the reputation that preceded him wherever he went.

At one time he desired to spend a much needed holiday at the watering place of Montecatini. When he arrived, he found that in one of the apartments assigned to him stood a grand piano of noted make. On the rack, by way of compliment, lay the score of "Il Trovatore." As soon as he caught sight of it the veteran flew into a rage, hastily locked the instrument, threw the score into a corner and, calling for his host, demanded in tragic tones:

"Lead me to the spot that overhangs the steepest precipice!"

Wondering, the host did as he was bidden, and on reaching the summit the maestro, who was almost exhausted from fatigue, flung the key of the piano into the abyss, energetically exclaiming as he did so:

"Now I have done something to secure rest and quiet. On the day of my departure I shall send a locksmith to provide the piano with a new key, but while I am here I pray you let it remain as it is."—New York Tribune.

His Grace.

Little Milly is a good Sunday school scholar and on that account was invited with two or three others to spend the day at the minister's residence by way of reward. When the dinner came on the good man said such a long grace before meat that Milly yawned and looked hungrily at the covers.

"Why are you yawning, Milly?" asked the minister. "Does not your father say grace?"

"Oh, yes," answered Milly promptly, "but it isn't so long as that."

"And what does he say?" pursued the clergyman, hoping to obtain a text for a little homily.

"He says different things, but last time when he sat down he took off the cover and said: 'Great snakes! Do you call this a dinner?'"

The homily was postponed.—Strand Magazine.

The Wrong Shop.

He was only a plain American panhandler, says the New York Globe, but he ordered his "schooner" of Bowery beer with the sang froid of a plain American plutocrat. Midway in its consumption he sidled to the free lunch counter and reduced the pile of big sausages by one.

Two more gulps of beer and a second and third large sausage disappeared. Washing these down, he concluded that he needed a sausage and got it; then for the door.

"Here, Bill," the genial barkeeper called familiarly, "come back a minute."

The panhandler returned expectantly.

"Say, Bill," the barkeeper continued in a confidential way, "the next time you want a glass of beer you go to a butcher shop, see?"

She Had a Substitute.

Influential Member—I am glad to notice, doctor, that your wife never turns her head to see who comes into church late on Sunday morning. The Rev. Dr. Goodman—No, but she makes me tell her all about them after we go home.—Chicago Tribune.

Vague.

"My husband is really very attentive. Yesterday he bought me a dozen veils."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

THROWING THINGS AWAY.

The Time When You Weary of Recorded Incumbrances.

"I am beginning to throw away things," said Mr. Partingby, according to the New York Sun—"going through papers and things and [illegible]

[illegible] newspaper clippings about [illegible] that I would never have thought of again but for this reminder, and some things I have forgotten [illegible] that even the [illegible] does not recall to [illegible] them out and saved them. [illegible] really are many of [illegible] which we bother our [illegible] at some time we [illegible]

"[illegible] from men long since dead [illegible] that recall forgotten [illegible] our life that now seem [illegible] we live so much in the past [illegible] keep these old receipts. The man that gave them are dead now or moved away, and these accounts will never be sent in again, and if they were they have long since been outlawed by the lapse of time. Throw them away.

"Here are old birthday cards, with pretty, with affectionate, with loving greetings, bringing most pleasant memories, though they do remind me and they would only lie there with the old papers in the drawers. To the basket gently with them.

"And here, as I live, are some valentines! Well, well! This does make us young again. But, dear, that was long ago. Why should keep them longer? To the gently. We have the valentine self now.

"There are so many things that put away to save, to treasure. seems to stretch away interminable fore us when we are young and are going to keep these things and it takes us happily a long time to get where we can see ginning of the end. Youth us with a buoyancy and strength make life seem a joy that is to forever, and in sturdy middle deed, we take little account years, but then comes a time we begin to realize that two make four and no more.

"Now, I have arrived at that of life when I begin to know. for heaven's sake, think that taking a mournful view. 'Far

"Life never seemed to me so joy as now, and I'm good for long stretch of it; yet, with and understanding broadening, enjoyment in everything and this broader view of things, piled too much by detail, this accumulation of long gathering seems superfluous and useless, I'm just going through it and things away.

"This lot that I've been through today is just stuff accumulated in the cubbyhole desk, but I've got boxes and of such stuff stored away, and get it out, a box or a time, and go through it and away, for of what use will to anybody? What becomes sort of stuff, anyway, when er-r—I mean why shouldn't I stuff out now myself and to cumber things up for some to throw away?

"There may be some things sure, that I'll want to save, other people will want to these things I will save; but bulk of this stuff, why, much hindering, useless this I'll throw away and decks cleared start life anew."

The Old Man's Money.

"Did you hear 'bout the experience in the bankin' "No; what was it?"

"Why, he put $60 in bank—ey he'd ever put there—an' tol' him that he'd better on the bank, as they failed quent, an' he wus liable to

"Well?"

"Well, he hung round that constant that the bank people picious of him an' thought goin' to blow the bank up. he seen the cashier come ordered him round town, always in' him in sight. An' it was way with the bank president the clerks. An' when he plied fer a job as janitor stitution, so's he could be in case o' trouble, they had ed, an' the judge decided crazy, an' they wuz jest him to a lunatic asylum friends explained things, an' folks give him his money to git."—Exchange.

The Inundation.

"If you please, sir," said a a churchwarden in a village, rector is to be inundated week, and I have come to whether you will be able to ent." "Certainly," replied warden, who was something morist, "and I hope there overflowing congregation."

WOOING SLEEP.

A Prescription That Gives Well to Parents.

A BOY HUNT.

Chased From Hedge to Hedge by a Big Pack of Weasels.

The following extract from an interesting book may be of interest to our friends. It is from My Life as an Angler, by William Henderson, published in London in 1879.

"About this time, while rambling in the pasture, we made leading from Merriman to Winchestone with two other boys, an adventure occurred sufficiently startling to two little fellows from nine to ten years old. We were busily engaged in picking wild strawberries, which clustered in the hedgerows, when we saw at about a hundred yards distance a pack of at least twenty weasels running from hedge to hedge and evidently scenting out footsteps. It flashed upon us that we were being hunted. So, springing over the nearest hedge, we ran across a pasture field and, standing upon the farther bank, looked back toward our assailants. To our dismay we saw the whole pack, with noses to ground, steadily tracking our course. The word was given, 'Run!' and off we scampered, a boy and another boy to take up our position on another hedge. Still the pursuit was going on and the creatures were evidently gaining upon us, so with a wild shout we fled to the village, which, happily for us, was not far off. I have frequently heard of persons being attacked by weasels, but was never hunted by them on any other occasion."

The above must have occurred about 1812, the locality being the north of England.—Forest and Stream.

Shooting the Steenbuck.

Many of the poor Boers in the Transvaal, by whom all the shooting that is done is for the pot and not for sport, have perfected a system of shooting with the assistance of oxen. A steenbuck has no fear of cattle and will lie still even if they graze right up to him. The hunter gets together a few cattle and with his gun walks behind them in such a way that he cannot be seen from the front. Great care has to be exercised to drive the oxen so that they may seem to be grazing naturally. The hunter must be ready to shoot without having to alter his position. The slightest movement is noticed by the buck.

He Could Count.

A very little boy was in the room where a young lady was practicing on the piano. She was counting aloud, "One, two, three, four." The little fellow, quite surprised, after awhile went to her and said earnestly, "Ee next is five."—Youth's Companion.

Fish or Golf Story.

While driving to the fourth green on Newark golf course a local solicitor sent his ball into the river Devon and killed a two pound fish. Both ball and fish were found together, the latter bearing marks of its injury.—London Standard.

His Change of Front.

"My view on coeducation," he said firmly, "is that it should be forbidden. It is deleterious to mental development. It leads to"—

"John," said his wife, entering unexpectedly, "are you telling Mr. Smith of the dear old days when we were college classmates?"

"I-yes," said John.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A prudent haste is wisdom's leisure.—Italian Proverb.

FIERY CHARLES READE.

The Author-Manager's Way With Ellen Terry, the Actress.

Ellen Terry at the age of twenty received to leave the stage and went and stayed six years in the country. How she came back to it is told in "Ellen Terry," by Christopher St. John.

Charles Reade when hunting in Hertfordshire met her by chance in a country lane and told her in his rough yet kindly way that she was a fool to have left the stage.

"Why don't you go back?"

"I don't want to."

"You will some day."

"Never!" Then, mindful of certain financial troubles threatening her rural peace, Ellen Terry added, "At least not until some one gives me $200 a week."

"Done!" said Charles Reade. "I will."

The part Miss Terry played for Reade was Philippa Chester in "The Wandering Heir." At the end of the run of this piece she did not leave his management, but went on tour in several of his plays. The tour was financially disastrous, but a suggestion from Ellen Terry that her parts did not carry her salary and that she had better leave, as any one could play these parts equally well, was received with the greatest indignation by the fiery author-manager.

"Madam, you are a rat! Don't imagine it is generous to desert the sinking ship," expressed his view of the situation.

An old lady who lived with Miss Terry at this time and was her inseparable companion remonstrated with Reade for his harsh language to her "Nelly." "I love her better than you do or any puling woman," Reade answered.—Manchester Guardian.

VANISHING TROUSERS.

A Simple Trick Which May or Not Be Humorous.

This is a simple trick, and every ried woman can perform it, but quires the assistance of a confe with a big bag of shining tinwa.e on his back.

First get a husband with an extra pair of slightly worn trousers in his wardrobe; then have the confederate, the man with the bag of tinware, come to the back door and knock gently. The wife must then peep out in a frightened way, and immediately the man with the tinware tells a tale that resembles an advertisement. The wife stops to think a few minutes. Suddenly she must rush to the wardrobe, but only after the man rattles the brilliant tinware to arouse her. The wife must walk back to the man again with the trousers. The man must take them and hand the wife a few tin pans. All the while the man with the tinware must smile happily. At last the transaction is completed, and, presto change! the husband's trousers have disappeared and in their place appears some tinware on the kitchen table. This trick is very novel and will amuse the husband greatly. The trick should not be performed while the husband is in bed unless he has an extra pair of trousers.—F. P. Pitner in Judge.

Scared Out of Writing Badly.

A well known musician, who writes a very illegible hand, once sent an unusually hopeless scrawl to a friend. The latter studied it a minute, gave it up in despair and then sat down and wrote in reply: "I shall be most happy to dine with you tomorrow at 6. Kindest regards to your wife," etc. In less than half an hour his friend appeared breathless at his door.

"There's some misunderstanding," he said anxiously. "I wrote you a note asking you if you could play the piano part of the trio at Brown's recital and here you've sent me an acceptance of a dinner invitation, but I didn't invite you to dinner."

"Well," returned the other blandly, "I didn't suppose you'd really sent me an invitation to dinner, but I couldn't read a word of your note, and in that case hereafter I mean always to take it for granted that you're asking me to dine."

For one of his correspondents at least the offender now writes legibly.

Peculiarities of Long Island.

The class in geography in one of the Brooklyn schools was asked by the teacher, "What are some of the natural peculiarities of Long Island?"

The pupils tried to think, and, after awhile, a boy raised his hand.

"I know," said he.

"Well, what are they?" asked the teacher.

"Why," said the boy, with a triumphant look, "on the south side you see the sea and on the north side you hear the sound."

Mamma Remembered.

Papa (enraged)—Well, Constantia, daughter, I've never in all my life seen as soft, green, unsophisticated, spoony an idiot as young Puddington. Mamma (emphatically)—I have!—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A son never realizes how much his own father knew until he starts to advise children of his own. — Florida Times-Union.

Th[illegible] for sale everywhere and are q[illegible] tractive with the ornaments of [illegible] beads and gaily dyed floss. Blind [illegible] gars greet one at every corner. [illegible] In the high class Egyptian fa[illegible] there are many blind. The [illegible] classes of Egyptians are given [illegible] to hasheesh—that is, the lower [illegible] in the large cities—and, although [illegible] against the law to sell it, one will [illegible] the hasheesh places pointed out, [illegible] the men who smoke the drug are [illegible] everywhere. They are distinguished [illegible] by the peculiar appearance of [illegible] eyes, which become red, swollen, [illegible] baggy underneath, and by the pe[illegible] color of the skin, which resembles [illegible] somewhat the skin of a Chinese [illegible] smoker.—Harriet Quimby in Leslie's Weekly.

A LOST CONTRACT.

The Little Thing That May Seem Prevent a Sale.

A pen once lost me an order. It just worked up the executive of a large concern into a desire to buy. I had my contract form lying on my desk with my finger on the dotted line. He reached over toward his pen rack, took off a pen and plunged it into the ink well. He turned to me with a look on his face—the well was empty.

I was ready with a fountain pen. The pen was uncapped. I handed it to him. He started to write. The pen would not flow. I took it and shook it. Again he made the attempt, with the result.

"I will get one," he said. He stepped into the other room. Before some one stopped him with a question, for he did not come back for several minutes. Then he stood at his desk. He looked down at the contract.

"I believe I had better think the matter over again," he said. And the talk I put up could not be answered.

I had lost a sale because my fountain pen was empty. Now, one of my regular morning duties, week in and week out, just as regular as my shave and my checking over of calls to be made and the marking out of my expense account, is filling my fountain pen.—James N. Hauser in System.

A Great Polyglot.

Solomon Caesar Malan had conversed with his children in Hebrew, but on his deathbed, when one of his sons began to recite a psalm in familiar Vulgate of his youth, the dying man, scholar to the last, murmured "Non ita, non ita! Hebraice," and the son repeated it in Hebrew.

He could, for that matter, have well have said it in Coptic or Chaldee, for to him all tongues came alike. At eighteen he could write in many languages, oriental and European, among his published works were translations from the Arabic, Coptic, Syriac, Ethiopic, Hebrew, Chaldaic, Armenian, Georgian, Mongol, Persian, Koreun, Japanese, Greek, Latin, Welsh and Gothic. He is said to have learned to speak Armenian fluently in a fortnight, and he preached in Armenian to a Georgian congregation in the Cathedral of Kutais.—London Literary Review.

A Patient Dog.

My brother has two dogs, one a mastiff, the other a tiny spaniel that he can hold in the hollow of his hand. Don, the big dog, had been taught to lie down and face his food, but not to touch until the command, "Eat," had been given him. His mistress, preparatory to leave for a day's shopping, told Don his breakfast one day, but withheld the permission to "eat," and when she returned late that night the faithful dog lay with his paws on the untouched food, but not a particle had been eaten!—Chicago Tribune.

Blunt Dr. Dougal.

Dr. Dougal of Keith, who was an honorary member of the Royal society in 1795, had a reputation for bluntness. A talkative woman accosted him one day and said to him, "Doctor, what is the matter with my tongue?" "Just needin' a rest," he replied curtly. On another day a patient accosted him and complained, "I have been trying to suffer with my eyes, doctor." "Better out than upon," he answered. "Better out than in, for them than without."

Fancy Rice.

"I want some rice," said the lady. "You have it for sale, I suppose not?"

"Sure, ma'am," replied the grocer. "Six cents a pound or two pounds for a quarter."

"Oh, I must have the most expensive kind. It's for a very fashionable wedding."—Philadelphia Press.

THINKING ALOUD.

A Ruse Which Roused Lord Dudley and Formed a Friendship.

One of the earls of Dudley, who was addicted to the practice of thinking aloud, found himself in a very awkward predicament on a certain occasion. He was to spend the evening at the house of a friend and ordered his carriage early, as he had a long drive to his country house.

When the footman announced the carriage was at forthcoming. Seeing that Lord Dudley was considerably annoyed by the delay, one of the guests, whose way homeward lay past his lordship's house, politely offered him a seat in his carriage. The gentleman was almost a stranger to Lord Dudley, but the offer was accepted.

The drive did not prove a very sociable one. Lord Dudley took his seat and immediately relapsed into silence, his thoughts apparently engrossed by some unpleasant subject. Presently he began to speak in a low but distinctly audible tone of voice, and his companion, to his astonishment, heard him say:

"I'm very sorry I accepted his offer. I don't know the man. It was civil certainly, but the worst is I suppose I must ask him to dinner."

Silence followed this bit of audible thinking. His lordship was unaware that he had betrayed his thoughts and was probably still meditating upon the same unpleasant subject when the voice of his companion broke the stillness.

Apparently this stranger was afflicted with the same malady from which his lordship suffered, for he exactly imitated Lord Dudley's tone as he said:

"Perhaps he'll think I did it to make his acquaintance. Why, I would have done the same to any farmer on his estate. I hope he won't ask me to dinner, for I shan't accept his invitation."

Lord Dudley's abstraction was all gone. He listened to the other's words, immediately comprehending the joke against himself, and frankly offered his hand to his companion, making many apologies for his involuntary rudeness.

The stranger proved magnanimous, and from that night the two became fast friends.

THE TAXIDERMIST.

He Stretches Animal Skins Over Plaster of Paris Forms.

Recently a prominent taxidermist of St. Louis was taking a party of visitors through his establishment. He had some very rare specimens of big game fish, both of the sea and river, besides a large collection of birds of every clime about the walls.

"Is that stuffed, too?" asked a lady, indicating the lifelike form of a small pet dog which sat motionless upon the hearth.

The taxidermist frowned and returned very indignantly:

"Madam, we do no stuffing here. We stretch our hides over plaster of paris forms. The day of stuffing is past, and to up to date establishment does it."

The party was taken upstairs, through the rooms where the real taxidermy is done. They had expected to see hides being crammed full of sawdust, shavings and perhaps hair. No such thing was seen, however, and in place of this were men and boys molding out the forms of deer, antelope, fish and other kinds of animals in the smooth white plaster. This is done very much in the same way as the terra cotta cornices are molded to grace the corners of buildings. The hides after going through the cleaning process are stretched tightly over the plaster form, which indeed is more lasting than the old fashioned manner of stuffing them.

"Even specimens of fish are treated in this manner," resumed the taxidermist, "and you may easily see how a skin would retain its shape a great deal longer over the hard, smooth surface of the plaster than if a softer material were crammed into it, which if improperly done will bulge and last but a short time."—Exchange.

Lincoln's Last Law Case.

Lincoln tried his last case in Chicago. It was the case of Jones versus Johnson in April and May, 1860, in the United States circuit court before Judge Drummond. The case involved the title to land of very great value, the accretion on the shore of Lake Michigan. During the trial Judge Drummond and all the counsel on both sides, including Lincoln, dined together at the house of Isaac N. Arnold.

At the conclusion of the dinner this toast was proposed: "May Illinois furnish the next president of the United States." It was drunk with great enthusiasm by the friends of both Lincoln and Douglas. — Chicago Record-Herald.

Fatalism Exemplified.

She—I hope, dear, that you are not going to worry about my exceeding my allowance this time.

He (brightening up)—You don't mean to tell me, dearest, that there isn't any necessity for it?

She—Certainly not. What's the use of worrying about something you can't help?—New York Life.

W. D. DICKINSON.
Tax Collector, Alachua county, Fla.

Gainesville, Fla., June 27th, 1907.

Should any persons who have paid their taxes, find any items of their property advertised to be sold in the foregoing list, if they will send me the number and date of their receipt, I will investigate, and if correct, will have same immediately taken from the list at my expense.

We have been as careful as possible in preparing this list, but it is a very difficult undertaking, which covers a period of eight months' collections. There is a possibility that some items may have gotten on the list, on which the taxes had already been paid. I will cheerfully correct all such errors, without any expense to the tax payer, provided my attention is called to it, as per above request. Very respectfully,

W. D. DICKINSON,
Tax Collector.

IBLE AS CIPHER.

A Verse From Solomon Told of a Marriage Engagement.

When she left her home in the small town to come to New York to take up a special course of study her pet sister was fast reaching the crisis of a love affair. The pet sister was a most winsome young lady and had long kept a goodly train of suitors a-sighing. Was this affair to be the grand affair? The older sister hoped so, for she liked the young man cordially—thought he was just the sort to make a proper brother-in-law.

But the weeks passed, and not a bit of definite news about the progress of the affair did the older sister receive in her city boarding house. She became anxious. Louise, she thought, must not go on recklessly trifling in such important matters.

Then one night about 10 o'clock, just as she was going to bed, came a telegram. The servant brought it up. The elder sister was country girl enough to be thoroughly frightened by the pale manila, black inked envelope. How ominous it looked! At length she gathered courage to open it. This is what she read:

Solomon six three. LOUISE

Solomon six three! Whatever in the world! Oh, why, yes, stupid, it of course meant the Song of Solomon, sixth chapter, third verse! But—and her cheeks flushed with shame—she had no Bible!

There was a great scurrying about the boarding house to find a copy of the sacred book. The girls were routed out in vain. On all sides the cry arose, "Who's got a Bible?" Just think of the sister trying to sleep that night without knowing what that verse was! It would have been just like a woman to lie down to pleasant dreams, content to know that she could satisfy her curiosity in the morning—not!

The landlady, good soul, came to the rescue. She was no heathen. She had a Bible. Up to her room with it flew the sister and shut the door. Such a turning over of pages by eager, nervous fingers! Solomon six three. She found it, and then she cried "Hurrah!" and laughed, for the verse was:

I am my beloved's, and my beloved is mine.

THE SPECTER SWIMMER.

A Legend of the Sea That Still Appeals to Sailors.

The sailor as a class still holds fast to the superstitions that have been his especial heritage throughout all ages. To him the sea is still peopled with phantoms. Men there are still who sail the sea believing in the power of the Swimmer, men who believe in the Walrus of unholy fame and in the existence of the specter bark Lucy to be seen at any time dodging in and out of the creeks and bays of the South Carolina coast. This is the tale of the Swimmer:

Near Cape Finisterre there lived a fisher maiden in days when the world asked fewer questions than now, and with her lived her usher sweetheart. On their wedding night, runs the yarn, smugglers came down on their village, a thieving, drunken band. When they left, having done all the damage they could, the fisher maiden's sweetheart had disappeared, whether with them or through them was never known. Instead of pining uselessly, as would most women, she dressed herself in men's clothes and started to find him, dead or alive.

For years she wandered over the earth and ocean, and, though her disguise was penetrated several times and she passed through a host of troubles which vary with each telling, she succeeded in keeping up her hunt. Finally after escaping from an English prison the vessel she was on was lost at sea, and the simple Breton fishermen enshrined her in a legend which has her forever swimming the seas still in search of the man she loved and hailing each craft she nears. A sailor, be he Yankee or Portuguese matters not, first in all things else or grossly superstitious, believes firmly that if you hail the ghost bark of the Swimmer on a dark night at sea and answer it not woe follows swiftly.—New York Herald.

The Perfect Servant.

The ideal English servant is not the most perfect kind of servant to be found anywhere, and in his station and for his duties he is not to be matched in the world. Where will you find any men so competent in their work, so completely trained and apparently emotionless in manner, so punctual, so clean, so smart, as an English butler, coachman, footman or valet? Certainly not on the continent of Europe, in the United States, in Canada or in Australia.—Country Life.

The Thorn on the Rose.

In the old Bundehesh of Zoroaster we are told that the rose grew fair and thornless until the entrance into the world of Ahriman, the evil one. According to this ancient narrative, the spirit of evil became universal, and not only man suffered thereby, but inferior animals as well as trees and plants.—Circle.

The time is coming to every fellow when he will have to make good or step down and out

To be good is to be good for something. Negative goodness is never anything but an adulterated farce.

The "independence" affected by some men is really comical. They "don't have to" and they know it.

The troubles not on the map of life are the ones that make barren many of the years through which we pass.

Do you know the art of self-mastery? Is your life like a quiet and rythmic stream—unhurried and noiseless?

Have confidence in yourself. You know more about yourself than anyone else and you are best capable of judging yourself.

That eternal whining is sure to wear out the staunchest friendship and is certain to take the light from the loveliest countenance.

Robert Browning could scarcely dream of a greater crime. To each frustrate ghost he would impute the sin—the sin of the "Ungirt loin and the unlit lamp."

After all, only those things that appear in dim perspective through the shadow haze—these are things that make us shiver. We are not afraid of things we clearly see.

Gossip is more contagious than the measles—and a whole sight worse. I'd vote to quarantine every old gossip in the world, provided the quarantine could never be lifted.

If you just can't add anything to the big world's stock of fun, for God's sake don't rob it of its mirth and smiles by everlastingly peddling your own troubles on every corner.

Don't let the man who never fails be your standard. He never rises above the commonplace. Beware of the fellow who makes no failure. As a rule, your failures will over-reach his successes.

If we could make up our minds to spare our friends all details of ill health of money losses, of domestic annoyances, of altercations, and of anxieties, we would sin less against the world's good humor.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Fist Blow Caused Death.

Little Rock, Ark., July 19.—Chas. McFarlane, a private of the Sixteenth infantry, U. S. A., stationed at Ft. Logan Roots, was killed while engaged in a fist fight with Harry Miller, a teamster. It is stated that no bad feeling had previously existed between the two men, but a slight misunderstanding led to the encounter and Miller, who is of huge frame struck McFarlane a powerful blow with his fist, the latter sinking to the ground and expiring almost instantly. Miller was arrested.

Senate Appropriates $50,000.

Montgomery, Ala., July 19.—The senate passed the bill to appropriate $50,000 to fight the railroad suits in the United States railroad court. With little or no opposition, and one small change, the code committee bill went through the house and copies of it were ordered printed. An effort to have a provision to make the fire rate 60 per cent failed. The municipal code bill was passed in the senate and sent to the house without engrossment.

Vienna Flooded by Cloudburst.

Vienna, July 19.—There was a terrible cloudburst here Wednesday. The streets were flooded. It is said the outlying suburbs of Neuweldogg and Hernals were destroyed and that there were many victims. The entire fire brigade of Vienna was employed in rescue work, which was much hindered by the torrents and the flooding of the river Alserbach, which separated Hernals from Vienna.

10,000 Elks in Line.

Philadelphia, July 19.—The climax of the convention of the Elks was reached Thursday when more than 10,000 members of the order marched 6 miles along Broad street in their annual parade, and nearly all Philadelphia took a holiday to see the spectacle. It is believed that no such crowd as that which lined Broad street ever gathered on that highway.

Negro Weighed 500 Pounds.

Waco, Tex., July 19.—Will Lawson, a negro weighing over 500 pounds, was buried Thursday. It was necessary to get a special shroud, construct a special coffin and take the body to the grave in a large wagon, as the hearse would not accommodate it. Lawson was 39 years old, and began getting too fleshy to do heavy work when a small boy.

$100,000 Fire at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., July 19.—Fire at an early hour Thursday morning destroyed the seed house of Woods-Stubbs & Co., at 215-217 East Jefferson street. The produce firm of L. G. Hicks and Co., adjoining, sustained an almost total loss of stock by water and falling walls. The total loss is estimated at $100,000; partially covered by insurance.

Prohi Success in Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala., July 19.—By an overwhelming vote the senate passed the bill to prevent the shipping of whiskey into prohibition territory, and the house favored a bill to force saloons to close at 7 8 and 9 o'clock, according to the size of the town. Bills to prevent freight trains to run on Sunday failed in both houses.

Pocahontas and John Smith.

The pretty story of Smith's rescue from imminent death by Pocahontas when he was in the clutches of her redoubtable father, Powhatan, has been rather blown upon by later historians. It has been shown that Smith in his earlier narrative only mentions the princess incidentally as a child, and it was not until she came afterward to England and Smith wrote an account of her for the edification of the court that he described vividly how she hazarded the beating out of her own brains to save his. By that time the romantic Pocahontas had been metamorphosed into Mistress Rebecca Rolfe, wife of a Virginia settler of standing, and her portrait, with plumed hat, ruff and fan, has been duly handed down in this capacity.—London Times.

Wife Appreciated It.

They have just "blown themselves" for a new bed, an old fashioned, colonial sort of bed, that looks as though it might have been in somebody's family for a hundred years or so, and they think a great deal of it. They have discussed its many merits time and again, but it remained for the young wife to discover one feature of the new bed that had never appealed to the husband.

"There's one thing I like about the bed," said she, "about the sideboard, and the way it's put on."

"What's that?" asked he.

"It's so low, I don't believe a man could crawl under it," said she.—Indianapolis News.

The Badge of Honesty

Is on every wrapper of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery because a full list of the ingredients composing it is printed there in plain English. Forty years of experience has proven its superior worth as a blood purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach disorders and all liver ills. It builds up the run-down system as no other tonic can in which alcohol is used. The active medicinal principles of native roots such as Golden Seal and Queen's root, Stone and Mandrake root, Bloodroot and Black Cherrybark are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized medical authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that these roots can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia as well as in all bilious or liver complaints and in all "wasting diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, pure blood and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, and through them the whole system, that all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions as well as scrofulous swellings and old open running sores or ulcers are cured and healed. In treating old running sores, or ulcers, it is well to insure their healing to apply to them Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve. If your druggist don't happen to have this Salve in stock, send fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and a large box of the "All-Healing Salve" will reach you by return post.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

There are a good many rabbits playing lion parts.

If you let others do your bragging for you, it isn't so apt to be overdone.

When authority spoils a man, it is also apt to be hard on those over whom it extends.

Careful comparison makes any other heritage look insignificant compared with common sense.

You often hear impolite children criticised. Ever realize that there are a good many impolite grown people?

Some houses are so prim and orderly they remind one of the systematic arrangement of the tombstones in a well kept graveyard.

If you want to know how people speak of you behind your backs, listen to the reckless manner in which they pitch into others.

We admire a patience that doesn't parade it. The hen, for instance, when sitting doesn't look as if it felt that no rooster could ever be such a martyr.—Atchison Globe.

The Smile

That won't come off appears on baby's face after one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, the great worm medicine. Why not keep that smile on baby's face? If you keep this medicine on hand, you will never see anything else but smiles on his face. Mrs. S——, Blackwell, Okla., writes: "My baby was peevish and fretful. Would not eat and I feared he would die. I used a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and he has not had a sick day since." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

They Didn't Know Paper.

Scholars have wondered why it was that the ancient Romans never achieved the art of printing. The secret of their failure lies probably in the fact that the Romans never discovered how to make paper. For most of all purposes they used wax tablets and metal stamps for marking wares, packages, etc.—Pittsburg Post.

Cobb & Butler of Lake Butler are evidently fish dealers who are desirous of getting their customers in line for turtle soup or turtle steak, or are fixing to tickle the palates of their customers with a luscious turtle "pillau," as there passed through Gainesville yesterday for them an immense turtle weighing in the neighborhood of a hundred pounds. The turtle came from Cedar Key.

A letter received by T. W. Shands from Waynesville, N. C., bears information that Mrs. Shands and the children are enjoying excellent health and a good time. Mrs. Shands complains that she cannot do without The Sun very well, and asks Mr. Shands to "punch us up" in the matter of forwarding the paper regularly. While we regret very much that Mrs. Shands is not receiving the paper, we can assure her that it is leaving this office daily, and it is up to the management to get a big stick after somebody else.
